

MEDIZINISCHE UNIVERSITÄT
INNSBRUCK

EXCITING INHIBITION

Innsbruck, September 28th 2011

Meeting program

- 3.00 pm Opening by Herbert Lochs (Chancellor, Innsbruck Medical University)
- 3.10 pm Werner Sieghart (Centre for Brain Research; Medical University of Vienna)
"Günther Sperk: from mitochondria to brain research"
- 3.30 pm Josef Marksteiner (Dept. Psychiatry and Psychotherapy, County Hospital, Hall)
"Therapeutic potential of neuropeptides in psychiatric diseases"
- 3.50 pm Annette Beck-Sickinger (Dept. Biochemistry; University of Leipzig, Germany)
"Molecular Mechanisms of the Activation and Trafficking of NPY-Receptors"
- 4.10 pm Coffee break
- 4.40 pm Annamaria Vezzani (Istituto Mario Negri, Milan, Italy)
"Neuropeptide Y: the good side of molecular plasticity in epilepsy"
- 5.00 pm Thomas Klausberger (Centre for Brain Research; Medical University of Vienna)
"GABAergic control of cortical networks"
- 5.20 pm Werner Poewe (Dept. Neurology, Innsbruck Medical University)
"Günther Sperk and Clinical Neurology - a personal comment"
- 5.30 pm Wolfgang Schütz (Chancellor, Medical University of Vienna)
"Günther Sperk – a friendly pharmacologists point of view"
- 5.40 pm Hans Winkler (Dept. Pharmacology, Innsbruck Medical University)
"Günther Sperk and Neuroscience in Innsbruck"
- 5.50 pm Closing Remarks (Ferraguti-Schwarzer)

Aperitif to follow

Hosted by the Department of Pharmacology, Innsbruck Medical University

Image: Somatostatin-immunoreactive interneurons (Brain Res. Rev. 1996)